Wedding Bells SHAW — FENTON

One of the loveliest weddings of the season took place in the Irma United Church at 2 p.m. Thursday, May 20, 1964. United in marriage were Miss Sylvia Isabel, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eldon Fenton, and Mr. Robert Harshorne Shaw, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shaw of Wainwright.

Rev. H. W. Inglis performed the ceremony.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride looked beautiful in a floor length dress of white nylon sheer with lace inserts over satin with lace bodice buttoned up the front with Peter Pan collar and lace fly pointed sleeves. Her three-quarter length circular veil was held in place by a coronet of seed pearls. Her only jewellery being a gold wrist watch, gift of the groom. She carried a white Bible with a cascade of red roses intermingled with white streamers and lily of the valley.

Mrs. Edith Myggland, sister of the groom, was matron of honor and Miss Dorothy Joan McLaughlin, cousin of the bride was bridesmaid. They chose dresses of mauve and blue net over tulle. They were matching veils which were held in place by a rolled headband and carried matching bouquets of white carnations.

Mr. Sydney Shaw, and Mr. Mervyn Stephenson supported the groom. Mr. Thomas Shaw Jr. and Mr. James Tindall acted as usher.

Miss Doreen Simmerman sang "Because" during the signing of the register. Mrs. Helen Whidden accompanied her and played the wedding music.

Mr. Eldon Fenton, mother of the bride, received the guests in a navy blue dress with navy and pink accessories. She wore a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Thomas Shaw, mother of the groom, assisted the bride's mother wearing a pink sheer dress with white and navy accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

A reception for fifty guests was held at the bride's home.

The bride's table was laid with a white linen cloth. A beautiful three tiered wedding cake centred the table and was flanked by white tapers and sprays of red tulips.

A toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. H. W. Inglis, to which the groom ably replied. A toast to the parents was proposed by Mr. James Jackson.

Later that evening a dance was held in Irma for their many friends.

The bride donned a navy gabardine suit with red and white accessories and light blue top coat with a corsage of red roses. When they return from their honeymoon they will make their home in Wainwright.

Southern Alberta farmers will irrigate 500,000 acres

(By George Yacoules)

Southern Alberta's 1954 irrigation season has started and, until canals of the various projects are drained late next fall, several thousand farmers will be applying water to crops on more than 500,000 acres of land "under the ditch".

Because of frequent drying winds depleting moisture supplies in the top soil, the season started 17 days earlier than in 1953.

The first headgates to be opened were those of the St. Mary-Milk Rivers Development at the St. Mary River Dam, southwest of Lethbridge. They were raised on May 8 to release water down the project's main canal and two days later farmers were able to irrigate seed beds.

Headgates of the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation District were opened on May 10 and within a few days most of the other projects in southern Alberta also had started their operations and began to deliver water to farmers.

Officials of all of the major projects reported they had completed their winter's repair and maintenance programs and that their systems were in "good shape" for what is expected to be a busy season. These officials anticipated an unusually heavy demand for water throughout the growing season, these expectations being based largely on the outlook for the year to be drier than normal.

While moisture reserves in the sub-soil were adequate, farmers were finding it necessary to apply irrigation waters as soon as possible to new seed crops to promote proper germination. The topsoil had been dried to a powder by chinook winds.

Generally speaking, these are the acreages expected to be under irrigation this year in the various southern Alberta projects:

St. Mary-Milk Rivers Development—135,000 acres during the spring with the total increasing into the neighborhood of 200,000 by the fall as more construction work is completed on the growing projects.

Lethbridge Northern Irrigation District—91,000 acres.

United Irrigation District—34,000 acres.

Bow River Development—77,000 acres during the spring with the total being increased to 90,000 acres by fall with additional water distribution systems.

Eastern Irrigation District—200,000 acres.

New West Irrigation District—4,500 acres.

Mountain View Irrigation District—3,500 acres.

Leavitt Irrigation District—4,500 acres.

Ross Creek Irrigation District—2,000 acres.

Macleod Irrigation District—500 acres.

Western Irrigation District—50,000 acres.

It is officially estimated that substantially more than 100,000 acres of irrigated lands will be devoted to the growing of specialized crops this year.

Of this total, 37,500 acres already have been contracted for sugar beets, over 13,000 acres for various canneries vegetables and nearly 30,000 acres for soft white spring wheat. Considerable acreages also are being devoted to seed peas and seed beans, commercial potatoes, alfalfa, sweet clover, fresh market vegetables, pickling cucumbers and other specialized crops.

The bulk of the land "under the ditch," however, is being planted this year to grain crops in this order of importance: wheat, barley, oats and flax.

$2,000 hail research grant to university
SASKATOON, Sask.—A grant of $2,000 to continue support for a hail research program at the University of Saskatchewan was announced recently. The grant, from the Canadian Hail Underwriters association, is also supported by the Saskatchewan Municipal Hail Insurance association.

This program of hail research has been conducted at the university by the Field Husbandry Department for several years.

YOUNG Flier
EDMONTON, Alta.—Ten-year-old Maureen Golds "is" perhaps the youngest flying student in North America. Flying instructor Al Lang who teaches Maureen in her father's plane, says she's ready to fly solo. Under federal regulations however she cannot fly alone until she is 16.

SASKATCHEWAN HISTORY
SASKATOON, Sask.—Writing of the official history of Saskatchewan is progressing at the University of Saskatchewan in preparation for the celebration next year of the province's golden jubilee.

EDMONTON STILL GROWS
The Prairies' second largest city, Edmonton, now has a population of 197,838, according to the latest census. Greater Edmonton's population, however, stands at 217,387. Since 1947, when the great Leduc oilfield was discovered, the oil capital's population has grown by some 100,000.

Funny and Otherwise

"My dear," whispered one woman, "have you heard about the Harrisons? Everybody is talking about them. Some are taking her part and some his."

"Really?" said the second woman, "and I suppose a few eccentric individuals are minding their own business?"

The life expectancy of the average man has increased a lot in the last 100 years. Of course, a man has to live longer now to get his taxes paid.

Boy Scout (at breakfast table): "I've done my good turn for today."

Father: "You've been very quick."

Boy Scout: "Yes, but it was quite easy. I saw Mr. Smith going for the 7.45 train and he was frightened lest he'd miss it, so I let the bulldog loose and he was just in time."

Tenant: "I'm sorry I can't pay you this month."

Landlady: "That's what you told me last month."

Tenant: "See! I keep my word—you can trust me."

A young woman was having her dreams analyzed by a psychiatrist. One day she told him she hadn't dreamed the night before.

"Young lady," snapped the psychiatrist, "I can't help you if you don't do your homework."

A man stepped up to a front door, knocked and the door was opened by a beautiful blonde.

"May I speak to your husband for a moment?" asked the caller.

"I'm sorry," she said, "but my husband is away on business. He won't be back for at least a fortnight."

The man took another look at the blonde, "That's all right," he murmured. "I'll wait."

A man wearing a hearing-aid got into a taxi whose driver displayed great interest in the gadget.

"Are those things any good?" he asked. The passenger replied that he would be lost without it.

"Ah, well," said the driver, with a sigh, "nearly all of us have something wrong. Take me for instance. I can hardly see."

A cub reporter on a certain small-town newspaper was sternly reproved by his editor for being verbose in preparing his stories. A little later he was dispatched to write up the death of a well-known local merchant who had suddenly expired.

Looking over the young man's shoulder an hour later as he prepared his story, the editor read: "Howard Jones, prominent merchant of this city, was walking along the street this morning, when he suddenly clasped his hands to his heart and said, 'I'm going to die.' Then he leaned up against a fence and made good."

It was a very cold day. Isaac and Cohen had walked about four miles, hands deep in pockets, without either making a single remark.

"Vy don't you say something?" said Cohen at last.

"Freeze your own hands!" replied Isaac.

Agriculture ministers advocate extension of PFRA activities

REGINA—The Agriculture Ministers of the four western provinces, meeting recently in Regina, commended the work of the PFRA and recommended that its operational area be extended.

Saskatchewan's Minister of Agriculture, Hon. I. C. Noyes, said at the conclusion of the conference: "The conference had high commendation for the work of the PFRA in the field of soil and water conservation. The work of the PFRA has been an important factor in helping to stabilize agricultural production in the areas to which it has been applied. The Ministers noted that many areas were outside the PFRA boundary and recommended that the PFRA be extended to cover all agricultural lands in the four western provinces."

The wheat marketing system, livestock marketing, the possible need for a Veterinary College in Western Canada, were also discussed at the Conference. Mr. Noyes said, while other subjects were held over for discussion at a meeting to be held later this summer.

FOREST CONSERVATION WEEK

MAY 30 TO JUNE 6

Many residents of Saskatchewan are unaware of the vast storehouse of wealth contained in the thousands of square miles of forest that stretch across the northern part of the province. In addition to their value in terms of forest products, as shown above, they also play an essential role in recreation, tourism, hunting and trapping, sport and commercial fishing, watershed management, moisture control and soil conservation.

Regarding Some Property YOU Own

By ALAN BEAVEN

Manager, Prairie Provinces Division Canadian Forestry Association

Every Canadian citizen owns 45 acres of forest. All told, the ownership covers a million square miles. We are even more fortunate in Saskatchewan as the beneficiaries of forest lands covering 96,000,000 acres, giving a life endowment of 115 acres to every man, woman and child in the Province. Every pay-check in the Province, whether your job carries either directly or indirectly, a forest dividend. Saskatchewan may be called a prairie province, yet three-fifths of its total area supports tree growth, and over half is covered by permanent forests.

Stretching in a broad green band across the waist of the Province from the boundary of Manitoba, to Alberta on the west, the forests of Saskatchewan are a vast treasure-house of nature. This great forest area is administered by your natural resources department as a trust, and under management which will assure that though annual crops will be harvested, these forests will remain a permanent heritage of the people of Saskatchewan.

To obtain this pattern send twenty-five cents in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) to:

POLYTHENE
Lighter and one of the most versatile of plastics, polythene is made in Canada, in a $15,000,000 plant near Edmonton which uses Alberta's natural gas as its basic raw material.

Living and growing these forests make many contributions to our welfare. As guardians of soil they help to assure the success of the agricultural areas lying along their fringe, and they remain the best insurance against soil erosion, which in rolling or hilly country is almost always followed by a loss of soil and a happy balance between agriculture and forestry is the greatest safeguard for permanent agricultural success in the middle northern farming areas. The beneficial effect of trees to our farming people and to agriculture extends throughout the parkland belt, and is made possible on the open plains by tree planting. In both areas trees provide the twin blessings of protection and the conservation of moisture.

Forests are our great natural watershed, regulating stream flow for irrigation and hydro-electric power. They keep our lakes and rivers cool and fresh for sport and commercial fishing. In providing a home for wildlife they are the foundation of our trapping industry.

There's no end to these benefits, as long as the forests are kept evergreen and evergrowing. That's the criterion: How secure are the harvest-fields of timber this year, and during all the time to come? The first stage of "Conservation" is to wipe out the fire plague. Fire thrives on human recklessness. It can be throttled by human vigilance.

Forest Conservation Week, May 30-June 6, is a period during which public attention is focused on the many benefits enjoyed from the forests of Saskatchewan. A time when the Saskatchewan Department of Natural Resources, the Canadian Forestry Association and co-operating agencies and organizations work together to secure public co-operation in forest conservation. Forest fires don't just happen, they are caused by careless people, and the only sure way to eliminate these fires is for every person, young and old, to assume a personal responsibility in making sure they are never guilty of starting a forest fire. If we are to continue to enjoy the many blessings provided by the forests of Saskatchewan, forest fires must be banned. It's not a job for the other fellow, it's the duty of you and I, working with the other fellow.

MAKE A LANTERN OF SHEET METAL PATTERN 343

While no special skill is needed to make this handsome post lantern you will need a pair of tin snips and a soldering iron, as well as some household tools, including a pair of pliers. The "do-it-yourself" craftsman will find that he has saved a tidy sum when the cost is compared to that of a ready-made lantern. The practical experience gained in making the first one may lead to others as working with metal is an interesting avocation for the handyman. The price of this pattern is 35c. The "Homestead Improvement Packet" which includes the lantern pattern, and four other outside improvements will be postpaid for $1.50.

don Pettigrew of Millet. They expect to come back to Irma shortly.

Continued rain and unsettled weather have prevailed for a long time here. The roads have become so bad that the busses have been forced to detour from Irma across to Mannville and on to Edmonton by that route.
It was necessary to cancel the Legion Sports for June 9. The country looks as green as Ireland and, if sunshine comes,
things should grow at an amazing speed.

Funeral services for the late
Mrs. Briard were held at Frog Lake on June 2. She was buried just a mile from the home of leaves to mourn, besides her loving husband and 4 sons, aged 15, 13, 11 and 9, and her daughter ket on June 19.

The Work Train, which has been on the siding here for the past three weeks while new rails have been laid on the CNR tracks has now moved up to Jarrow. There were about 200 men employed with this train.
One of them was a young student minister who attended service at the Anglican Church at Irma last Sunday. Many of the men are Italian DP's and St.
Theresa's church had a good number in attendance last Sunday morning. One of these was able to assist with the service by reading the Epistle in Italian, thus enabling his fellow countrymen to understand more of the morning worship.

How big is a Profit?

A lot less than most people think!
The only quarrel most people have with profits is ... they think they are too big ...
But how big is too big?
To find out, survey people rapped on doors
right across Canada.
Most Canadians think companies like Imperial make 29¢ on each dollar of sales. Most of them think such companies are entitled to make about half that ...
15½¢ on the sales dollar.
Imperial's profit in 1953 was actually less than 8¢ ...
less than a third of what most people thought we made.
